Fire house to be named after deceased fire fighter

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Fire House 3 will officially be renamed after late firefighter Donald James Daughenbaugh May 16.

Daughenbaugh was one of the heroes, who found and rescued the lone survivor (a 4-year-old girl) on Flight 255 that crashed at Metro Airport Aug. 16, 1987.

Daughenbaugh, son of Battalion Chief Bill and Grace Daughenbaugh, died after suffering several heart attacks March 24, 1991, only hours after fighting a house fire.

It is the second Romulus fire house to be named after a deceased fireman. Fire House Four on Eureka Road was renamed to honor firefighter Leonard Gierak, a 22-year fire operations veteran, who died July 4, 1987.

Fire Chief William Greenslaid said the official ceremonies at the fire house will be at 1 p.m. May 16. Snacks and soft drinks will be available for those attending the ceremonies, he said.

Daughenbaugh was born Feb. 13, 1966 and graduated from Romulus High School in 1984. He played football at school and baseball on various area teams outside of school.

He joined the U.S. Marines shortly after graduation, but injured his shoulder and was given a medical discharge.

Daughenbaugh then joined the Romulus Fire Department and earned his Emergency Medical Technician and Hazmott (hazardous waste) team certificates.

Prior to becoming a firefighter, he drove a shuttle bus at the Metro Airport. Later he became a firefighter in Taylor and was an ambulance driver for a private service based in Taylor.

"Being a firefighter got into his blood early," his mother said, "he loved being around fire department equipment even while visiting fire stations with his dad early in his life."

His father said "local firefighters became his extended family. He got involved in anything pertaining to the fire department."

"His memory is vividly still with us," Greenslaid said, "His name continues to pop up in our daily conversations. He definitely will not be forgotten."

The Romulus Fire Department was so much a part of his life, his parents have emblazoned a colorful fire apparatus, fire department ambulance and photo of Daughenbaugh in uniform on his gravestone at Denton Cemetery in Van Buren Township.

Since their son also loved hunting and any other type of outdoor life, the gravestone also includes a large deer and numerous pine trees. On the rear side of the gravestone is a poem entitled "The Fireman's Prayer."

"The highlight of my son's life," Daughenbaugh said, "was being part of a three-member unit that found 4-year-old Cecelia Cichan whining, but alive among the

City fee increases loom as other revenues fall

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Barring any additional negative blips on the area or national economic horizon, the McAnally administration appears to be ready to send a $10 million budget proposal to members of the Romulus City Council April 1.

The 1992-93 proposed budget has been pared down nearly $1.4 million from the original departmental budget requests earlier this year.

The biggest budget reductions were in the police department--$359,356; the election unit--$200,118; the buildings and grounds office--$183,274 and the recreation department--$93,484.

Cut as a result of the fund slashing were the acquisition of new voting equipment and new vehicles asked for by police, fire and Department of Public Works leaders.

In addition most unfilled staff positions--initially budgeted--have been eliminated, including the post of deputy police chief.

Despite the cuts, the police department expense of $3,387,610 makes up almost one third of the entire city budget.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said he fears major positive economic changes are still four or five years away. But he has asked the city finance department to prepare an economic projection for the city through the year 2000.

He also asked for a listing of all city-owned property, so that the council members could consider ways to get some of that property back on the tax rolls.

Despite all the somber talk about the poor financial state of the city, Raspberry did smile once and said, "Since the press is here, I want to report at least we have no rubber-gate problems here."

Raspberry was referring to the current check-writing scandal currently dropping U.S. House of Representatives rating to an all time low of 20 per cent with voters.

At finance director Donovan McGuire's request, the current budget carries a minimum $100,000 contingencies listing.

McGuire said the city could squeak by with a zero contingencies balance, but would be cited for poor management and make Romulus a poor candidate for credit options.

McGuire said he would have

preferred $500,000, but would settle at this time for the $100,000 level.

Mayor Beverly McAnally opened the special budget study session Monday night by declaring, "The administration is not attempting to push any budget creation duties on to the council, but needs their input on how to alleviate the current financial crisis."

"Increased city revenues is the name of the game," Raspberry said several times during the night. His comments were echoed by fellow council members.

While emphasizing that he felt that city funds were spent in an extremely prudent fashion, Raspberry said additional city revenue was the only answer to the current shortfall.

One of the quickest and probably surest ways the city will move on increased funding will be the implementation of a 1 percent administration fee for assessing and tax collecting efforts.

Such a fee could add another $350,000 per year to city coffers, City Treasurer James L. Napiorkowski said. Also the assessment of a 1 percent fine for late taxpayers also could be installed. Most cities and towns in Wayne County already levy a 1 percent per month charge, Napiorkowski said, while Romulus is looking at a flat 1 percent charge.

Raspberry asked McAnally

if there was a freeze on buying."

The mayor said, "Yes, pretty much. We buy only what we need to get by."

One thing that may add to some citizen confusion, McAnally said, will be the planned work on the Historical Park slated for this spring. That money has already been allocated via grants, etc, she said, and will not have any bearing on this budget.

Councilman William Wadsworth asked McAnally about the possibility of layoffs of city personnel.

While the mayor denied that this was necessary now, she said, "We did have to do projections for such an option."

Councilman Ellis Pennington urged that during these troubled economic times, city council members consider paring down any planned workshop or conference visits by at least 50 percent. "We have to set an example at the top," he stated.

Councilman Russell Lambert agreed that council members needed to shave their requests. "One way we can do it on conferences outside our area is to seek lower hotel costs. I attended one in Washington D.C. once and found we could have cut the hotel cost by 50 to 75 percent by going to a hotel several blocks away,

Voters make choices

Following a round of pre-election registration changes and the loss of two of the six Democratic hopefuls, Romulus area voters seemed less than enthusiastic about the March 17 Presidential Primary.

Multiple changes in the pre-election registration requirements reportedly left some voters confused and unwilling to cast their ballots. In addition, supporters of Tom Harkin and Bob Kerry were left to scramble for an alternate candidate when the two Democrats dropped from the race.

Democrats were left to choose between Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton, former California Gov. Jerry Brown and Sen.

Paul Tsongas of Massachusetts.

On the Republican side of the ballot, President George Bush was challenged by political commentator Patrick Buchanan and Louisiana legislator David Duke.

The unofficial tabulations on the March 17 ballot for Romulus were:

- Bill Clinton, Democrat-861
- Paul Tsongas, Democrat-123
- Jerry Brown, Democrat-479
- George Bush, Republican-359
- Patrick Buchanan, Republican-140
- David Duke, Republican-30

FOOD LOVER'S DIET

To introduce a new approach to dieting, free diet pills were given to 50 people. With The Omicron Diet, one man lost 14 pounds in 5 days and one woman lost 18 pounds in 10 days. The average weight loss was over a pound a day for women and over 2 pounds a day for men. The Omicron Diet is a revolutionary new concept for unbelievably fast weight loss developed and clinically proven by National Dietary Research of Washington, D.C. This significant breakthrough in metabolic weight control was made possible by the utilization of biological information overlooked by other diet programs. With a formulation of natural enzymes along with real food, you shed unwanted pounds extremely rapidly and safely.

Maintain your new weight forever without dieting!!!!!!

With the special enzyme formula Metabolase, it is now possible to reduce your usual weight by up to 10% or to maintain the weight loss after dieting, without changing your normal lifestyle or eating habits. Available through physicians since 1982, the enzyme formula is now available in pharmacies without a prescription. Start enjoying the foods you love to eat without fear of gaining weight. Metabolase now available at:

DIGEST

7 seek chamber board seats

Seven local business or governmental officials will be seeking five seats on the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

The seven include: Donna Hoevemeyer of the Romulus Post Office, Dave Paul of The City of Romulus, Gary Sampson of Adventure Travel Service, Cliff Smith of Kelsey Hayes, Dick Springer of Springer Archery, Maria Vanatta of Holiday Inn and Deloris Witzgal of Polka Dot Party Store.

Ballots are to be returned to the chamber office by March 25.

The non-elected board candidates will fill any further opening on the board in order of the number of votes they receive.

Health mural effort here soon

Romulus students are teaming up with local artist Dave Paczkowski and members of the Romulus Arts Council to design and paint a mural expressing their "thoughts, feelings, experiences, hopes, fears and worries regarding drug and alcohol abuse among young people."

The project is being funded by the Mayor's Drug Task Force and other money obtained through the Romulus Adolescent Health Center. Student artists will be paid a stipend for their work on the mural.

The mural itself will be in three panels and will form a movable piece of art that can hang or be displayed throughout the city—such as City Hall, the Romulus Library and local schools.

Area residents will be invited to the opening reception when the mural is put on display the first time.

Patricia Ditsch of the Romulus Arts Council has stimulated student involvement in the mural effort.

To date the following students have signed on: fifth graders Richard Tripp, Kevin Wilson, Alec Hance, Conway Norwood, Danielle Judy and Crystal Pomerico; sixth graders Randy Olson, Reginald Williams Jr., Rebecca Oleszkowski and James Lewis; seventh grader, Theodore Kesner; eighth grader Shawna Booth; 11th graders Ryan Darrell and Matt Scibilia; and 12 grader Sheree Laney.

Seniors plan ice show trip

Senior citizens at the Romulus Senior Center are being invited to join in a trip to the amateur Ice Show at the Yack Arena in Wyandotte on March 26.

The cost of the trip is $3 for the show and $1.50 for transportation. Meals will be obtained at Bob Evans Restaurant.

Seniors set to visit Dubuque in April

A motorcoach tour to Dubuque, Iowa, is planned for April 8-10.

The trip will include a visit to the city of Dubuque, two nights lodging, a gambling cruise aboard the Casino Belle and a round-trip bus ride. The cost is $139 based on double occupancy rates. The bus will be leaving the Romulus Senior Center at 7 a.m. April 8.

Romulus man joins U.S. Air Force

John H. Fitzhugh, son of Timothy and Marie Fitzhugh of Romulus, has enlisted in the Air Force Delayed Enlistment Program.

Fitzhugh, a 1991 Romulus High School graduate, is scheduled to enter the Air Force March 25.

Upon graduation from the Air Force six-week basic training course near San Antonio, Tex., he will receive technical training as a communications navigations system specialist.

He will be earning credits toward an associate degree in applied sciences through the Community College of the Air Force, while attending basic and technical training schools.

Salvation Army doctor retiring

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Dr. Craig Barlow, who has been examining men entering the Romulus area Salvation Army Men's Rehabilitation Unit since 1989, will be leaving the area today for warmer climates in Mesa, Ariz.

Barlow chuckled when interviewed during the quick freeze last week and said "I've had it with Michigan winters. I guess I should have left last week."

He said he is looking forward to the warmer temperatures in Arizona and the lower cost of living rates there.

Barlow hopes to get involved in an area substance abuse program there.

Barlow, a World War II Navy veteran who has resided in Ann Arbor in recent years, said he got involved with the local Salvation Army effort in Romulus because he considers it "a model program in returning men to positive lives."

Being a recovered alcoholic himself, Barlow said he was greatly impressed with the quality of the staff at the Salvation Army here and was eager to work with the men volunteering to enter the rehabilitation program.

Barlow also has stepped down from his position as medical director of Share House in Ypsilanti. His specialty has been internal medicine. He also has had a year of training in psychology.

Each Thursday morning Barlow would visit the local rehabilitation center on Goddard Road and examine from nine to 19 men who had entered the program that week.

Barlow would urge any dedicated physician with an interest in substance abuse to accept the post he is leaving. "It doesn't take a lot of time, the pay is adequate and you'll be working with a quality staff," he said.

Physicians interested in the medical position should contact Capt. Roger Senn at 941-5100. Senn said that the examining day and hours are flexible to allow the time period to fit comfortably into the doctor's other schedule demands.

rather than the one recommended by those persons operating the conference."

Raspberry also told fellow council members, "I'm proud of our local police and feel very comfortable having them cover our streets. Why don't we consider an increased police department millage plan also?"

Wadsworth countered "I think we would be spinning our wheels."

McAnally explained that firefighters said they would not campaign for a combined police-fire department millage hike.

"They feel that they are 100 percent Romulus residents and could reflect that strongly in their millage campaign. They feel that since some local police officers do not live in the city it would hurt their effort," McAnally said.

In defense of the police officers, McAnally said, "Some officers, who formerly lived out of town, have purchased homes within the city without any pressure from city leaders."

Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann

Banks said the root of the issue is that the police department does an excellent job with their current staff and equipment.

Banks said the major negative for most was the "dilapidated building" they were forced to work in.

"While I don't support laying off any policemen, I feel the public won't be excited about them until some action of that type takes place," Banks said.

City officials felt that separate tax bills for the school district and other taxing bodies were needed to get public attention.

McAnally said, "We can't afford to hire media people to run a millage campaign like the school district does."

Lambert complained that while picking up his son at pre-school he saw construction workers put up and then pull down new walls for the enlarged section of Merriman School three times.

"If there was a way to make the schools raise their own taxes," Lambert said, "maybe people would see how far their tax dollars go within the city."

Banks joined the chorus by saying "I feel I get much more in services from the city."

School board, teachers still battling over back-pay issue

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus teachers have stepped up their campaign to bring their contract needs to the attention of the public by erecting a large "blackboard" on Wayne Road once again.

The billboard, constructed to resemble a school blackboard states "Romulus School Board plus (an) unsettled contract equals a city of troubled schools."

The billboard was erected not far from the Romulus School Board office to draw attention to the fact the teachers have not had a new contract in four years.

It was paid for by the Wayne County Michigan Educational Association- National Educational Association.

Despite the fact that the last teachers contract ended in August 1987, the teachers have had two unilateral raises since then, school officials stated.

Currently the mediator is seeking to find an agreeable time period for both teacher and school administration representatives to meet to see if any changes have occurred in the stance of either side since the last negotiating session.

Among the topics "on the table" are pay scales and changes requested by the administration on the current medical plan and work year schedules and a request by teachers for retroactive pay.

Dr. Terrell LeCesne, assistant school superintendent, said the next to the last labor contract was agreed upon Tuesday with the 40 district para-professionals.

That leaves only the contract with the 209 district teachers to be settled, as other labor pacts were approved within the past month.

But LeCesne is concerned about the "peer pressure" exhibited by some teachers on their co-workers that does not bode well for students.

While not blaming teachers for the low MEAP (Michigan Educational Assessment Program) scores in past years, LeCesne said, the fact many teachers are refusing to be retrained in those study areas (unless that retraining is done during the school day) is having an impact on such progress in his eyes.

"We do not have a good working climate in our schools today," he said, "the only difference at various school levels is the degree of that internal conflict."

Teachers and their negotiators differ with LeCesne's view by saying offered contracts have been unacceptable to them.

One such offer reportedly contained a 7 percent increase for 1991-92, 5 percent for 1992-93 and 5 percent for 1993-94.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell contacted Tuesday said, "We are in a position to make them (the teachers) a substantial offer that would put them in the top 20 percent of state districts."

"But," he warned, "we are not in a position to give them over $1 million in retroactive pay for past years."

Bedell continued, "We gave them competitive wages during those times and it is unreasonable and unfair to expect the board to break itself financially by giving people money for past years."

He concluded "I will never recommend that."

Fire

burned out wreckage of Flight 255 in 1987."

All those aboard the plane (156 passengers and crew) —including her parents and brother—were killed, Daughenbaugh said. His son visited the Cichan family in the Mott Hospital in Ann Arbor and brought the small crash survivor flowers a short time later, while she was recovering from burns covering 30 percent of her body and broken bones.

He did talk to the press while at the hospital that day and told reporters, "There was still fire and smoke by her. We had to put it out, while we were taking her out."

The girl did survive the ordeal, Daughenbaugh said, but his son later preferred not to talk about the experience although he remained proud of his actions. The searing memory of charred bodies, burning debris and smoke and fire remained with him the remainder of his life.

Weeks before his fatal heart attacks, he was injured when he fell through the floor of a burning house at 28176 Ecorse Road, while helping to fight an arson related blaze.

He was treated at Annapolis Hospital at that time and released.

Mr. Daughenbaugh's last run was on March 24, 1991, when he helped extinguish a house fire. His father said "We started loading up the fire truck (after the fire was out) and he began to feel bad. So I took him immediately to the hospital."

Annapolis Hospital officials felt his heart was beating too slow, his father said, so they implanted a pacemaker. Then they called for a helicopter to fly him to the University of Michigan Hospital, his father said, but he suffered another heart attack and died before he could be placed on the aircraft.

An autopsy later revealed that he had an earlier heart attack, but doctors could not determine when it had happened.

Daughenbaugh's memory has previously been honored by Wayne County and the National Fire Academy in Emmitsburg, Md. and his name has been placed on the Michigan Firemen's Memorial in Roscommon.

He is also survived by a sister, Cheryl Gehan; four brothers, Robert, Ronald and Thomas Eves and Edward Daughenbaugh.

Burglars empty local garage

Burglars were busy in Romulus this past week, stealing more than $5,000 worth of car and personal items from residential garages.

Daring daylight burglars forced the padlock off a garage door in the 31000 block of Ecorse on Saturday and escaped with tools, welders, kerosene heaters, car racks and jacks and a TV set. The victim listed the value of the stolen items about $4,700.

A second garage in the 37000 block of McBride Street also was entered Saturday and a radio, battery and spare tire from a 1980 Mercury were stolen, along with a wheelbarrow. The total value of items taken was listed at $500.

Another burglar last Saturday attempted to force his way into a pizza dealer in the 30000 block of Eureka. The back door was damaged, police said, but entrance was not gained.

With hard economic times abounding in Michigan, a small band of successful Belleville co-workers have teamed up with their owners for a weekly Bible study prior to their work time each Friday.

Norma Ibach, who along with her husband, Darrell, own and operate D and R Auto Parts store on East Huron River Drive, initiated the Bible study more than a month ago "thank the Lord for each week's successes."

The auto parts store recently underwent an expansion and computer system update, Ibach said, "and we feel God has blessed us and our business and we wanted to take time out each week to donate some time back to him."

She in turn contacted the Rev. Donald (Mike) McClellan, pastor of the Romulus Wesleyan Church, and asked him to lead the weekly study for her employees and neighboring workers.

A check with various other Christian leaders in the area found no other such Bible study so Ibach has opened the program to the public free of charge.

Coffee and donuts are served at the early morning study (7:15 to 7:45) in case those attending the pre-work time session have to skip breakfast in order to be there.

To date the group of 10 has been studying various passages in the New Testament, Ibach said, and how they relate to current day life. "We want to encourage working together and joint prayers for the community," she said.

Because of the current economic climate, McClellan said, "we provide discussions on how to overcome discouragement in our daily lives. It is both a great joy and opportunity to minister to persons outside the church."

Local puppeteers entertain students

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

They danced about the stage with ease delighting more than 30 children and parents at Wilson Early Childhood School in the Wayne-Westland School District.

Hand-carved marionettes, with the assistance of their creators, Harry and Ann Niner from Gibraltar, told the favorite tale of Jack and the Beanstalk March 9. This kind of program is very beneficial for the students, according to Kay Lyons, principal and director of Wilson.

"Kids have such a love of reading, and by making the stories come alive, it encourages them to read even more," Lyons said.

The 30-minute program enticed the children to sing along during various scenes. The Niners have been traveling to various elementary schools with their marionette show for more than five years.

Harry Niner hand carves the marionette figures while his wife designs the beautiful costumes, according to Ann Niner.

"We mainly go to elementary schools and preschools with the program," (Ann) Niner said. "We present one story a year. Next year we're going to do Hanzel and Gretel."

It takes about 80 hours for Harry Niner to construct one of the marionettes. Each puppet is two-feet high, and they are worked by strings. The couple enjoys seeing the smiles on the children's faces during the performances.

"We're retired now," Niner said. "My husband is a teacher. We have time to bring these productions to the schools. It gives us something to do."

After each show the couple presents a 40-minute demonstration on how the puppets work.

Creative programs are not new to the Wilson Early Childhood group. The staff at Wilson participates in an innovative program identified as Collaborative Teaching.

This kind of program is defined by the Wilson staff as the teaming of a regular education teacher with a special education teacher to instruct an integrated class of students who are not handicapped along with students with mild handicapping conditions within the regular education curriculum.

Wilson Early Childhood Center has the following programs: Early Intervention Special Needs for children newborn to 5 years old, Sparky for pre-kindergarten children, Head Start and Kids/Plus.

University attorney finds work is varied on college campus

Ken McKanders

Ken McKanders never considers his work to be boring.

In fact, it was the numerous facets of his position as attorney for Eastern Michigan University that attracted the Belleville resident to his post.

"It's a lot of different pieces, but they all kind of fit together," McKanders said.

By day, McKanders handles legal issues and questions for EMU from virtually all areas of the law. After work, he is staff advisor to Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, an academic mentor, law instructor and an active member of the Renaissance Optimists Club, the National Association of College and University Attorneys and three bar associations.

McKanders took his position at EMU four years ago after serving several years in the same capacity at Wayne State University and Wayne County Community College.

"I think the added benefit is that I'm practicing law, but I'm also able to be involved directly with students and to assist them in some way," said McKanders, commenting on his campus involvement.

One of the the most direct ways in which he assists students is through the Academic Mentoring Program. Currently, McKanders is advising two students who plan to pursue law careers. He also regularly places a student from the Legal Assistance Program as an intern in his office.

McKanders also teaches law classes in night programs.

"I have taught a course out of Leadership and Counseling, The Law of Higher Education and now I am teaching health law," McKanders said.

Detroit area to work at the Ypsilanti-based college, he did not abandon his community service work in Wayne County. He continues to be a member of the WSU Campus Ministry Board and the Renaissance Optimists Club. As a former president of the Optimists, he actively participates in its ongoing charitable projects, such as Meals on Wheels.

"I've gotten to know a lot of people (at EMU), and I've enjoyed that. Even though day-to-day I'm dealing with problems, I enjoy the work. It never depresses me or frustrates me."

McKanders is married and the father of four children.

NEW ARRIVALS

Melissa Taber

Kelly and Scott Taber of Grand Rapids became the parents of a daughter, Melissa Katherine, born at 7:06 p.m. Feb. 29, 1992 at Metropolitan Hospital in Grand Rapids.

The new arrival weighed in at 7 pounds and 4 ounces and was 19 1/2 inches long.

Grandparents of the baby include Gerald and Wanda Seckel of Romulus.

JUST MARRIED

Stain--Perault

Patricia Joanne Stain and Robert Steven Perault were united in marriage Aug. 3, 1991 during a double-ring ceremony at the Victory Park Gazebo in Belleville.

Officiating at the ceremony attended by more than 100 guests was Glenn Silvenis, mayor of Belleville.

The bride is the daughter of Paul and Sharon Stain of Hannan Road in Wayne and the groom is the son of John and Marguerite Bonello of Dearborn.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white satin gown applique with venise lace. Sequins and simulated pearls decorated the bodice of her gown which featured sheer illusion insets at the front and back. The gown had puffed sleeves ruffled at the shoulder and cuffs and her full, pick-up skirt had lace at the flounced hem extending to a chapel-length train. She carried silk fushia and white and pink roses.

Maid of honor at the ceremony was Jenny Leslie of Belleville, the best friend of the bride. She wore a pink tea-length satin gown with floral design featuring short sleeves with a front bow. Her bouquet was fushia and pink roses.

The duties of best man were performed by Brad Howell of Belleville, the best friend of the groom.

Following the ceremony,

Forrest Sampson

Forrest Aaron Sampson, son of Gary and Renee Sampson of Belleville, was born March 9, 1992 at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

He weighed 7 pounds and 12 ounces.

He joins a brother, Neil Anthony, at home.

Grandparents are Ron and Hester Mostellor and Tom and Eleanor Tanner, all of Romulus.

Jason Moore

Jason Moore, son of Kandie L. and Terry A. Moore of Wayne, was born March 10, 1992 at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

He weighed 6 pounds and 15 ounces.

Grandparents include George and Elaine Maxim of Romulus and John and Sandra Cochran of Taylor.

Joshua Rice

Joshua Edward Rice, son of Harold and Jacquelyn Rice of Romulus, was born March 10, 1992 at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

He weighed 7 pounds and 4 ounces.

He joins a brother, Andrew Pegg, at home.

Grandparents are James and Gail Rice of Romulus and Louis and Alene Pegg of Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perault more than 100 guests attended an outdoor reception at the home of the parents of the maid of honor.

The bride is a 1987 graduate of Belleville High School and is presently employed at Ryken Tule in Walled Lake. The groom attended Belleville High School and is presently employed at Jim Segy Renovations in South Lyon.

The couple now resides in Northville.

TRAVEL

Careful packing is first priority for travelers, vacationers

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Pack enough - but not too much - is the first rule of packing for a cruise.

Although the rule may sound contradictory, it is not as complex as first-time cruise-goers may believe.

Bring enough casual clothing for the everyday activities and one or two outfits for the more formal occasions. If you have doubts about whether or not to take an extra piece of clothing - don't. In the event that you find that you need an extra blouse, jacket or piece of jewelry, you might want to purchase one as a souvenir.

While packing, remember that you will be carrying your luggage for, at least, part of the time between transfers and any extra items, translated into extra weight, can become a burden. In addition, travelers should leave a bit of space in their luggage to accommodate gifts and souvenirs.

A packing strategy employed by many experienced travelers is to pack clothing of predominantly one color, thus eliminating the need for duplicates in accessories to match the items. For example, if mix-and-match outfits in navy blue are packed, only one matching purse and pair of shoes are needed. Blouses, scarves and jewelry can be used as color accents.

The editor of a women's weekly publication reported that she traveled to Europe for two-week stays with one medium-sized suitcase. She packed her suitcase with predominantly black, navy blue, beige or white outfits, and accented them with colorful accessories.

Because sightseeing is the main focus of the days ashore and swimming, sports activities and sunbathing are the main events aboard ship, cruise passengers should concentrate on casual attire. Shorts, slacks, sundresses and blouses are appropriate attire for women. Men should gear their attire to casual clothing.

Casual dress is appropriate for all activities aboard ship, except for the captain's cocktail party and/or a farewell party at the end of the cruise.

While packing, remember that you will be carrying your luggage for, at least, part of the time between transfers and any extra items, translated into extra weight, can become a burden.

Both men and women should include a pair of rubber-soled shoes or sandals to wear on deck, and also pack a pair of comfortable walking shoes for sightseeing tours. Each should bring a light-weight jacket for cool evening wear.

Most cruise lines schedule one dress-up occasion on three- and four-day cruises and two dress-up parties on seven-day cruises. Tuxedos can be rented aboard ship for those who want to dress formally. However, men who do not wish to bring along a tuxedo or rent one may wear a dark suit to the formal parties.

Because of the casual nature of most the activities, it is probably better to leave expensive or heirloom jewelry at home. Safe deposit boxes are available in the purser's office and some ships have small safes in individual staterooms. However, to avoid possible loss or theft, it might be best to bring along costume jewelry or, at least, "second-best" rather than expensive or irreplaceable items.

Remember, a cruise is a time to relax and have fun. Don't make wardrobe selection or packing into a difficult task. Lastly, don't forget to bring a "survival pack" in your carryon luggage - basic toiletries, a change of underwear and a blouse or shirt - in the unlikely event that your luggage is misplaced on route.

Bon Voyage!

Fans try hand at Oscar predictions

For the next month, film fans will be naming their own choices for the 1992 Oscars.

After the Academy Award committee released the names of nominees on Wednesday, avid movie-goers began to mull through the past performances of the Oscar nominees to predict the winners before the academy presents trophies to their choices.

Named to the top Oscar categories were:

- Best Picture: Beauty and the Beast, Bugsy, JFK, The Prince of Tides, The Silence of the Lambs.
- Best Actor: Warren Beatty, Robert DeNiro, Anthony Hopkins, Nick Nolte, Robin Williams.
- Best Actress: Geena Davis, Laura Dern, Jodie Foster, Bette Midler, Susan Sarandon.
- Best Supporting Actor: Tommy Lee Jones, Harvey Keitel, Ben Kingsley, Michael Lerner, Jack Palance.
- Best Supporting Actress: Diane Ladd, Juliette Lewis, Kate Nelligan, Mercedes Ruehl, Jessica Tandy.

Other categories are for best original screenplay, adapted screenplay, foreign film, art direction, cinematography, costume design, documentary feature, documentary short subject, film editing, makeup, music original score, music original song, animated short film, live action short film, sound, sound effects editing and visual effects.

Among the films reviewed in Associated Newspapers, our staff gives a "thumbs up" to The Silence of the Lambs as best film and Robert DeNiro as best actor for his chilling role in Cape Fear. Jodie Foster's role in The Silence of the Lambs received a nod, as did the pair of Thelma & Louise stars, Geena Davis and Susan Sarandon. Our choices for best supporting actor and actress are any of the nominees other than Jack Palance, who portrayed the aging cowboy in City Slickers, and Jessica Tandy, the queen mother of actresses, for her role in Fried Green Tomatoes.

Best director honors should go to either Barry Levinson for Bugsy or Jonathan Demme for Silence of the Lambs.

Although Beauty and the Beast gained an "A" rating from our reviewer, nonetheless, we do not believe an animated film - no matter how well crafted - should be considered on an equal basis with motion pictures.

After listing our predictions, our staff admits that their guesses are no better than the predictions of other film fans. Therefore, we are inviting readers to submit their predictions for the best picture, actor, actress, supporting actor and actress and director to Oscar Contest, Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184. Entries must be postmarked by March 25.

The reader who makes the most correct predictions will receive a dozen movie passes

Home window system is money saver

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

If the windows are looking drab, and you would like to save on winter heating and summer air conditioning bills, it may be time to replace your windows.

By replacing old windows, an average home owner can save about 50 percent on their heating and cooling bills, according to John Whalen, owner of John's Weather-Seal, 27204 West Eight Mile in Southfield.

"We provide the highest rated and best looking window systems at competitive prices," Whalen said. "Our slogan, our claim to fame, is 'We sell the best windows in the world.'"

Whalen has been in business for 22 years. Weather Seal officials install window and door systems. They carry only the top-rated windows which includes Great Lakes, Pella Windows and Andersen Windows.

"Today, the highest-rated windows would be the vinyl Great Lakes system," Whalen said. "The advantage of Great Lakes would be that it's the largest vinyl-window manufacturing corporation in the world. They have insulators in the frame."

The glass John's Weather-Seal carries is only state-of-the-art. They carry a variety of beveled glasses and wood grains which are displayed in the showroom at the business.

"We offer free in-home estimates," Whalen said. "We also offer a full lifetime guarantee."

For an average-size home, ture, actor, actress, supporting actor and actress and director to Oscar Contest, Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184. Entries must be postmarked by March 25.

The reader who makes the most correct predictions will receive a dozen movie passes so that he or she will be able to view the new series of films and evaluate the potential Oscar nominees for next year.

In the event that more than one person correctly predicts the six top winners, a random drawing of the winning entries will determine the prize winner.

Opinion

Let's give the law a lift

"My rights begin where your rights end." So said a nameless author.

One of the great mysteries of society relates to where the rights of one group of citizens begins and the rights of others end.

In the City of Westland, a group of senior citizens has raised an objection which when all is said, seems to us to be a matter of "us verses them".

In case you have missed the aforementioned discussion, it seems Westland City Council members were faced with the dilemma of how they might satisfy both the new federal law known as the Americans With Disabilities Act and the concerns of Westland senior citizens.

The seniors have collected through fundraising efforts some $75,000 to help Westland city officials purchase a $150,000 tour bus. City council members appropriated the additional $75,000. The bus, once operational, would require the taxpayers of the city to provide a driver, cover all insurance costs, and pay for operation, including upkeep and maintenance.

The new act now demands equal access for handicapped individuals to such city-owned and operated services. The senior citizens say that they do not want a bus with a handicap lift. The seniors suggest that another van could be purchased or leased to follow behind the tour bus for use by those handicapped individuals who wish to go on trips. The seniors demand that the money they collected through their various fundraising efforts be returned to them if they can't have it the way they want it.

Well we have a few questions.

Wouldn't it cost a lot of extra money for taxpayers to have two bus drivers, to maintain two buses, provide insurance, buy fuel, and keep tires on two such vehicles?

If the seniors contributed to the purchase price of a bus, but the title names the city, to whom does the bus belong? Were someone to be injured in an unfortunate accident, wouldn't it be the city which would be responsible?

Wouldn't the operating costs and maintainance costs of the bus be paid by the taxpayers at large? If so, then why is it suggested by a group of seniors that it is "their bus"? It seems to us that it is not.

Now we come to the designated spokesperson for the Westland senior citizens, the person taxpayers pay to administer the Westland Department of Resources.

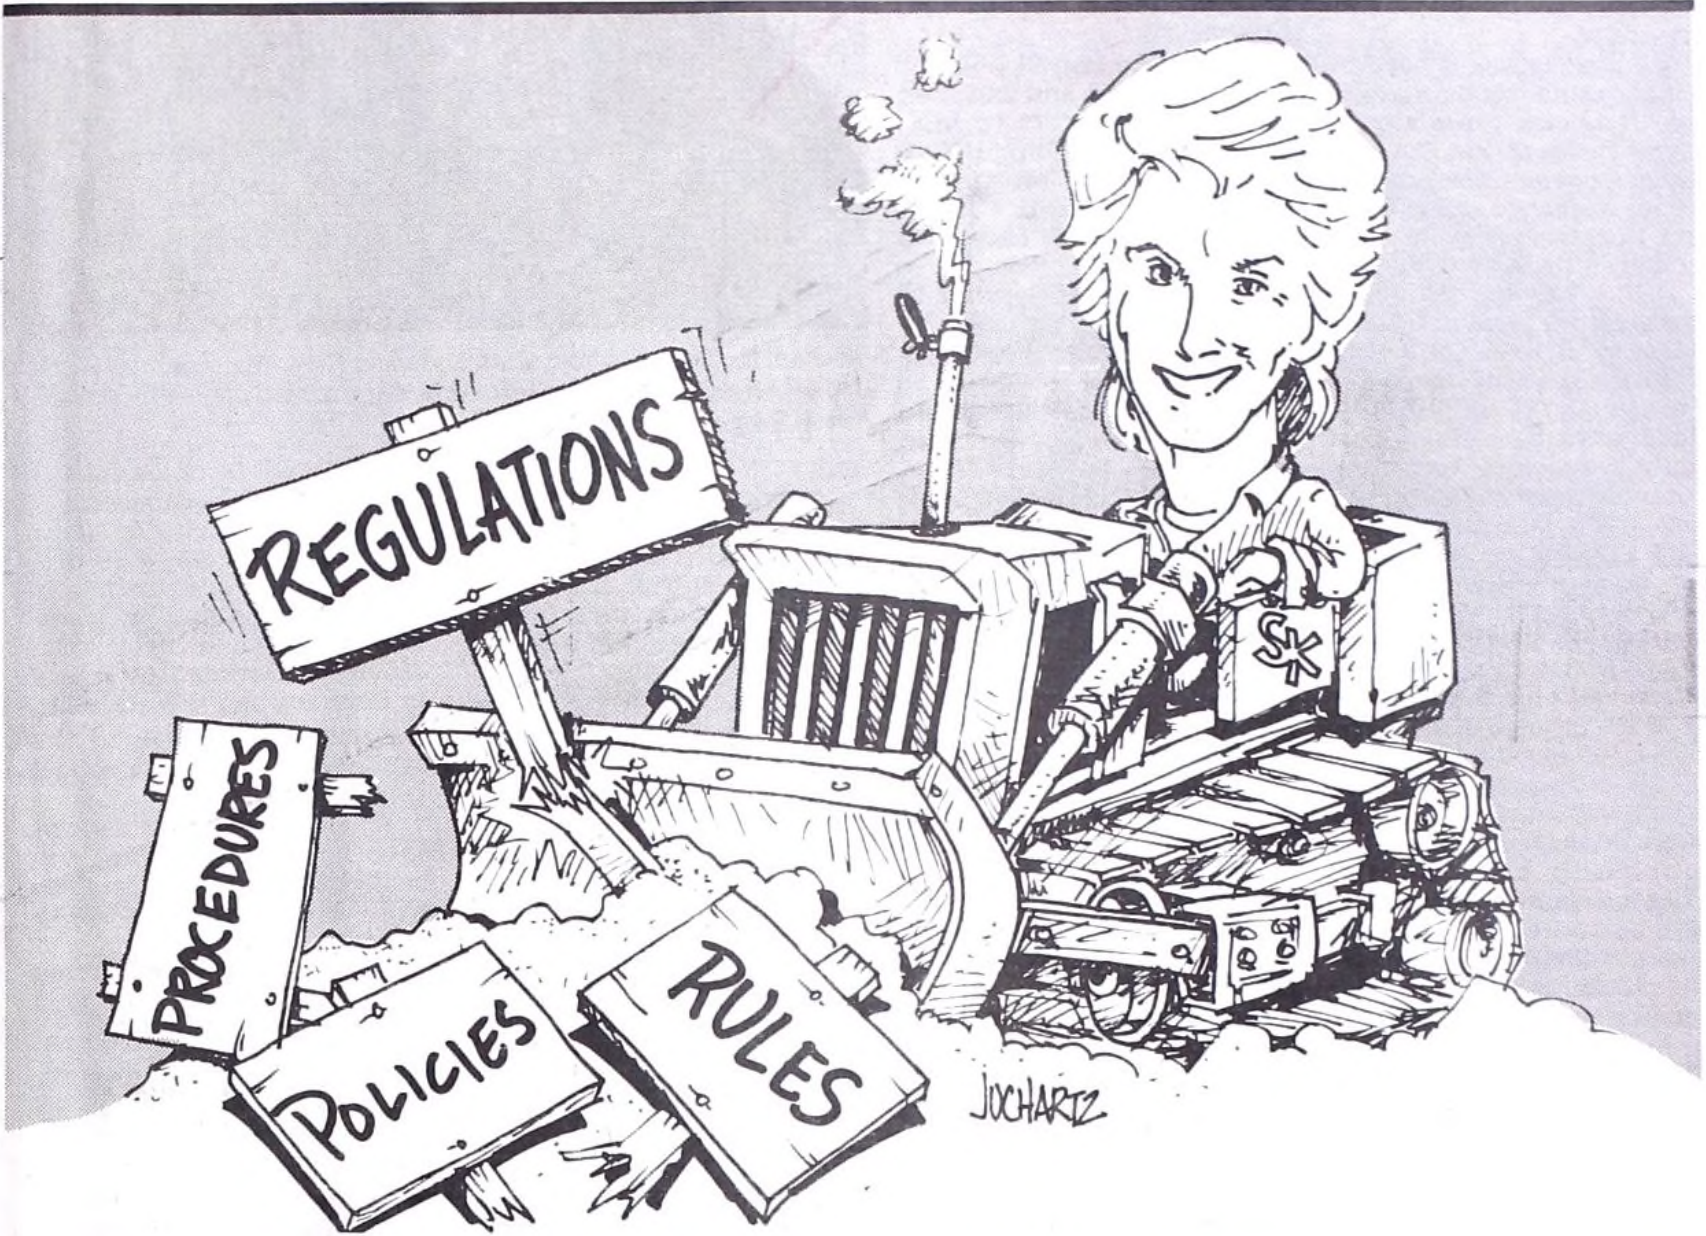

Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek is paid by the city to represent the interests of all of the citizens of Westland as they relate to the aged. It is our conviction that the interests of all of the citizens of Westland are not well served by Mrs. Kozorosky-Wiacek in this endeavor.

Kozorosky-Wiacek it seems is attempting to override all regulations, procedures, policies and rules by suggesting that the rights of the seniors and the handicapped can be provided for by segregating those who are infirm and can not access conventional bus facilities.

No one need tell Mrs. Kozorosky-Wiacek that those who are infirm want the opportunity to see the world while they still can, and that the point in part of the new federal act is to allow them, to whatever extent it is possible, to be treated just like all other citizens.

Kozorosky-Wiacek and many of the senior citizens have said, "do it our way, with NO LIFT or give us our $75,000 back." It is unfair, unreasonable and unmanageable to have the senior citizens attempt to give the money back. Back to whom? The individuals who say "the money is ours"? When money is collected by a group through fundraisers for a particular purpose, it hardly belongs to that collective group of individuals, nor can it be put to some other purpose.

We think it is time Kozorosky-Wiacek begins to see her important role in a different light. There is no higher calling then to work for a cause from which you will have no personal benefit. The bus is for all of the citizens of Westland including those now involved in the Westland senior citizen program. It is also for those yet unnamed who in the months and years to come may wish to use it. That may include a member of your family...and they may be handicapped and wish to be treated equally. Federal law now dictates we honor those rights.

Prison teachers should remain

To the editor:

Several weeks ago we suggested that two things needed to be done by the Wayne-Westland Board of Education. 1) Move the 9th Grade students into the high school buildings, and 2) offer a Early Retirement Incentive (ERI) to school employees. The whole purpose of our suggestion was to cut costs and to save money.

If the district enrollment projections are accurate, there will be 1500 fewer students in 1992-93 than there were in 1989-90, the current staffing standard. With the downsizing of the students, there will have to be similar downsizing of employees, resulting in layoffs.

What has happened in recent weeks, according to rumors afloat is that the current administrative leadership has shelved the first suggestion in a committee, pending the coming of the new superintendent, who may have different ideas.

However, our second suggestion has been seized upon vigorously. Rumors have it that the Board, through Bill Taylor's office is offering outrageous amounts of money to early retirees. Furthermore, he, Thomas Svitkovitch, and the exited Dennis O'Neill all would qualify for the outlandish "golden parachutes" being negotiated as ERI.

In view of these recently removed happenings, we urge the Board to POSTPONE any further discussions of Early Retirement Incentives until the new superintendent has been hired on May 8th - just two months away.

If the Board foolishly allows the currently removed plan to proceed without the new superintendent, they will not be cutting costs. They will allow the continued RAPE of the citizens which has been prevalent in recent years under the O'Neil, Svitkovitch, Taylor administration.

Donkey basketball is cruel

To the editor:

Belleville High School is having a "donkey basketball" game in their school in March. This is where two teams ride on donkeys to play basketball.

This is a cruel sport. Donkeys are pulled and pushed. Donkeys did not ask to be in the game. They also suffer pain and injuries. They are often hit by badly thrown balls, and often get kicked and punched by the human players, because of their desire to score.

Human participants are also often injured. Inexperienced riders fall from donkeys' backs, pull the donkeys down on top of them, get kicked by frightened donkeys, and have gotten broken wrists, legs, and cracked ribs! And concussions!

These poor donkeys' misery isn't over when the game is over, either. Their living condition is deplorable. They live in small areas - trailers, and get inadequate exercise, and during transit, (to prevent "accidents" in public places from accruing) they often are deprived of food and water.

They do not live a normal, enjoyable life of a donkey.

I have lots more information if you would like it, and if you want to know what my sources are, and what their expertise is and their professional knowledge, or if you want to do an article on how bad donkey basketball is. I urge students, or parents, or anyone who agrees this is not the way donkeys should be treated, to write to the Mayor of Belleville (Mary Glenn Silvenis), 6 Main St., Belleville, MI 48111.

Student objects to game

To the editor:

I wonder if people who care for animals know that playing donkey basketball is not play for the donkeys. It is, in fact, a sad existence. So far as we know the donkeys are physically hurt by the weights misplaced on them, and being pulled and kicked. Sometimes they're hit by errant balls. Food and water were withheld so they won't soil. They travel around in cramped trailers, not getting much chance to graze in open air.

I hope people who care will ask the BHS swimming team, Student council, teachers and coaches to substitute a different game for the donkey basketball game scheduled for March 24 at the gym.

Voter wants Jackson

To the editor

I think it's time Jesse Jackson announces he's running for the presidency...

Now that you have picked yourself up off the floor, let me finish my sentence.

... for 1996.

The other night while flopping cable channels looking for an alternative to Bowling for Dollars, I came across Mayor Ray Flynn of Boston giving one of those sleepy, hour-long talks on C-SPAN to a group of listeners at the National Press Club in Washington.

The gist of Mayor Flynn's talk was that procedure of America to determine rightful candidates to either the major party neglected the obvious voting constituencies of major cities in America. Voters in our big metropolitan area, he said, are being written out of the election process.

Flynn lamented further that since most "early" candidates go "naturally" to these elite coteries of the voter blocs, the candidates, in turn, never feel obligated to deal with the real issues confronting urban politics today - crumbling infrastructure, drugs, crime, gun control, housing, homelessness, quality education, health care for the poor, and underemployment, etc.

Had Paul Tsongas, Bill Clinton and other Democratic notables already written off the cities as big losers? Pat Buchanan: I can understand his not being interested in the future of urban areas in America.

Here's a guy who thinks America is a European grandchild - blacks, Hispanics, Asian-Americans and Americans hardly exist in his mind-set. Certainly, Buchanan could care less.

But what about George Bush. I asked myself.

So I searched and searched the text of Bush's State of the Union speech, hoping to be reassured that at least the leader of our country should be able to devise some rescue for the high amounts of urban deterioration we read about each day in our press and see on our TVs.

But, low and behold, on Jan. 28, Bush also neglected to give urbanites some glimmer of hope, a few slices of the American pie whose ingredients he rambled on about. Bush buzzed about Mother Country but offered no respite.

It struck me - like Bush was also struck by the mundane insight that the American family suffers from "dissolution" - that Bush doesn't care about cities either.

What an ugly thought! Our candidates and our political system - neither care about the cities' millions.

Which leads me to an article by columnist William Rasberry about Jesse Jackson and his comments to the United States Conference of Mayors.

It seems Mr. Jackson offered a reasonable solution to this modern perception that cities don't count, that suburbs do but cities don't.

Jackson's suggestions runs like this: "A 25 percent increase in voter registration in 50 major cities would add as many as 9 million people to the voter roles. Those voters (most likely black and Democratic) would affect public policy in every state, every county and every jurisdiction in the entire nation and shift the center of the national debate."

That is, do this "voter registration thing" and shift the debate and shift the candidates' attention back to the important issues of infrastructure, drugs, crime and gun control - all concerns being neglected in 1992.

So there's the challenge being offered to Jesse Jackson.

Announce your 1996 candidacy now in 1992, Mr. Jackson. Start collecting funds for 1996 to make the drive to the White House. Gather the man and woman power necessary to narrow in on these 50 major cities and locate these 9 million new voters who will help turn the system around.

With a Democrat like Jackson in the executive office and a cooperative Democratic legislature, I bet we'll even find a "peace dividend" to help finance the programs to deal with these urban-plight issues.

I bet, also, that in the year 2000, millions of city dwellers will have a say in who their president will be and which issues will be dealt with and why. Let's try it, Jesse.

Welcome home

Exchange students feel at ease with Wayne family

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Being an exchange student can be a fascinating experience both culturally and educationally.

Volunteering as a host for exchange students is an adventure all its own, especially for Wayne resident Pat Cantrell who has opened her doors to various exchange students for more than two years.

Cantrell first became a host in 1990 when her daughter Heather was a senior at Wayne Memorial High School.

"She (Heather) heard a speaker at the school who talked about becoming a host family to students from other countries," Cantrell said. "She came home and asked if we could become a host family. I thought it was a great idea."

Her first exchange students were from Berlin, a boy and a girl.

"You can pick the students you want through a selection process," Cantrell said. "It's really an easy process, and it doesn't cost much at all. Most people think it costs a lot to be a host family, but it doesn't."

The host family provides the food and shelter. The exchange students are responsible for bringing their own spending money, according to Cantrell.

"The goal is for the exchange students to get to know our culture here and education, while we have the benefit of learning their language and lifestyles."

This year Cantrell and her husband, James, and daughter, Heather, are hosts to high school senior Michael Neugebauer, 19, from Germany and junior high school student Kate Adamson, 18, from Australia.

Adamson first arrived in Wayne Jan. 12. She has traveled in the United States previous to her stay in Wayne.

What's the first noticeable difference between Australia and Wayne?

"It's cold," Adamson said. "It's summer now where I'm from."

It was by chance Adamson was selected to come to Michigan. She said she decided on a whim to apply as an exchange student never thinking she would be chosen.

Adamson is attending Wayne Memorial High School. She is impressed by the variety of courses available to the students.

"In Australia, we don't have such a wide variety of choices with classes," Adamson said. "I'm taking American history right now and politics which I enjoy."

Although Adamson misses her family, she said she is looking forward a trip to Florida with the Cantrell family this summer. Adamson's family may be visiting her in Wayne at the end of the year.

Once Adamson returns to Australia sometime next January, she hopes to achieve a college degree in journalism.

For Neugebauer, he can't get enough of Pizza Hut pizza. Like Adamson, Neugebauer has traveled in the United States prior to becoming an exchange student.

Neugebauer is also attending Wayne Memorial High School and is enjoying the marketing sales courses.

"Right now I'm taking American history, computer programming, marketing, humanities and public speaking," Neugebauer said. "The difference between my school in Germany and this school in America is the size of the school. The American school is bigger."

When Neugebauer returns to his home in May, he hopes to continue his studies in college with a concentration in law or business economics.

His family maybe visiting Wayne at the end of this month.

Patriots gear up to split county

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Proponents of the plan to split Wayne County are making the rounds of municipal meetings to promote the establishment of Erie County.

The sponsoring organization, Patriots for Erie County, have launched a petition drive to amend the state boundary act to allow 20 communities to form a new county. The downriver-based group is currently seeking 205,000 signatures on their petitions before the mid-May deadline.

"An ongoing and mounting frustration with Wayne County" is the basis of the petition drive, organizer Leonard Mannausa told the Belleville City Council members Monday night. He said the commissioners elected to write the charter of the proposed new county "will write a new page of Michigan history."

Mannausa accused Wayne County officials of viewing the southern half of the county as "a place to dump, to flush their toilets and to collect taxes." He referred to county proposals for solid waste disposal sites in the area proposed for the new county.

The Erie County organizer slammed Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara for his proposal of nine new taxes in a March 9 speech in Southgate.

If the Patriots have their way, residents south of Van Born Road will reside in Erie County, while their neighbors to the north will remain in Wayne County. The proposed new county would include Romulus, Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township, Belleville, Huron Township and 15 other downriver communities, a total of 166,935 acres.

Mannausa has unofficially proposed that the Downriver Campus of Wayne County Community College be turned into the new seat of government for Erie County, and that the

Downriver Campus be merged with the WCCC Western Campus in Van Buren Township to create "one great college out of two."

Mannausa noted that there has been inequities in state funding for community colleges. The Erie County organizer said WCCC receives $12 million annually from the state, while Monroe Community College receives only $2 million annually.

In a report presented to the Belleville councilmen, Mannausa noted that the proposed new county would have a population of 363,390 and a state equalized tax base of $5,427,153,690, or 21.34 percent of the current county. Mannausa noted that the new county could generate $58,124,816 in taxes based on 10.71 mills.

The Patriots for Erie County claim the following advantages if the county split is approved.

- Erie County would have its own government, instead of being represented by three of the 14 Wayne County commissioners.

- Erie County residents would receive a full return in services for their tax dollars.

- Five county commissioners would be elected, according to district, and the offices of county executive and deputy executive would be eliminated.

- County services, such as courts, the county seat, records, jails, the morgue and sheriff would be moved closer to the people.

- Judges would be elected by the Erie County voters, and residents would not have to travel to Detroit for court dates.

The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. March 26 at the Ramada Heritage Inn at Interstate-75 and Northline Road, Southgate. Information on the petition drive can be obtained by calling Robert King on weekdays after 6 p.m. at 671-8513.

Family Night planned at community center

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

A Family Night program is being presented for the families of clients at the Community Mental Health Center of Hegira Programs 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. April 8 in the dining room of Annapolis Hospital/Westland Center, 2345 Merriam Road in Westland.

The event will provide families an opportunity to ask questions about various issues including hospitalization and medications, according to Elizabeth Neidhardt, clinical services supervisor.

"This is the first time we're having a program like this," Neidhardt said. "It's a great opportunity for the families. We would ask anyone interested in attending the program to call ahead if possible, but registration is not necessary."

Topics for the program include the following:

- Hospitalization and partial hospitalization-Ed Michel, supervisor, Annapolis Hospital/Westland Center.

- Medications, their use and misuse-Dr. P. Kumaran, psychiatrist, Community Mental Health Center.

- The counseling process-Counselor from the Community Mental Health Center.

- Case management services-Suzanne Pellerito, case manager, Community Mental Health Center.

- Community support for families-Alliance for the Mentally Ill.

Tours of the Partial Hospitalization program are available 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. for anyone interested. Refreshments will be served. There is no charge for the program.

Anyone interested should call 721-6100 and ask for Neidhardt.

ANNAPOLIS MEDICAL STAFF

"Their Physicians Don't Just Treat You... They Treat You Well. That's Why I Chose Annapolis."

"Nobody likes going to the hospital. But when you have to go, you want the best care you can get. That's why I like Annapolis. Their dedicated staff made me feel like I was more than just a case, or a number. They treated me like a person. Their physicians took the time to answer my questions, and made sure that I understood every aspect of my treatment. In fact, everyone there made me feel that I was getting the best treatment possible. And I like that. Their level of caring is terrific, but it's the way they care that makes it special."

Annapolis Hospital is part of the Oakwood health care system. One of the largest health care systems in Michigan, with six hospitals, more than 30 local health care and specialty centers and more than 1,000 physicians.

Wayne, Belleville win district cage titles

Zebras bury Glenn

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It is one Friday the 13th that Westland John Glenn cagers will not soon forget.

Nor will Wayne Memorial.

Glenn, clashing with natural basketball rival, Wayne, on neutral turf Friday at Garden City High School, saw the dream of a Class A district basketball title turn into a nightmare as Coach Chuck Henry's club clubbed the Rockets into submission, 89-49.

The victory was the Wayne Memorial team's key to a regional berth. (Wayne had the dubious honor of playing undefeated Detroit Cooley Tuesday night in the first round of the regional playoffs at Southfield High. In the other bracket, Redford Catholic Central was to play Detroit Southwestern. The championship was to be decided last night.

Wayne took a 18-9 first period lead and never looked back. The contest for all purposes was over after the second eight minutes when the undefeated Wolverine 'A' Conference champ piled up a 36-19 lead, giving Henry an opportunity to indiscriminately substitute.

He used all 12 players.

The Rockets inability to make the percentage shots, coupled with a myriad of floor mistakes, led to their demise.

"We missed some easy shots and got off our game," said Glenn coach Pat Bennett, whose team finished with a 12-10 overall record and the Western Lakes division title. "We wanted to get the ball inside to our big men. It just didn't work."

"Wayne is too quick on their feet and hands. They are just a superior team and we wish them all the luck in the world."

The Westlanders shot 31 percent from the floor, making 20 of 64 shots. They also looked horrendous at the foul line where they canned seven of 15.

Rick Barnes had an exceptional night for the champs. The Wayne senior scored 21 points, 17 of those coming in the first half, and led the assault on the boards.

Glenn got 11 points out of Aaron Scheffer and nine from Kevin Champion.

Bennett said that he hopes the setback doesn't overshadow "what this team has accomplished this year."

"We did win the Lakes Division championship and we did have a winning season. These kids have nothing to be ashamed of."

Henry didn't have time to reflect upon the victory. He was busy getting his team ready for Cooley, the "come-back" team of the year. Cooley has gained notoriety this season for falling back, then staging comebacks and winning with at-the-buzzer shots.

The Detroiters are coming into the playoffs with a thrilling (for them) 68-66 victory over their city rival, Cody, and an unblemished 21-0 record. superior team and we wish them all the luck in the world at the regionals."

Tigers rattle Romulus

Belleville, a defending Class A district basketball champ, apparently likes to live dangerously.

And Coach Michael Garland's Tigers almost paid for their mistakes against neighboring Romulus Friday night in the finals of the district playoffs at Belleville High School.

Garland's minions easily handled their arch-rivals during the course of the regular season, however, Friday, they fought for survival and managed to eke out a 63-55 victory over the Eagles.

The victory gave Belleville a second consecutive district championship and moved them into the regional playoffs. The Tigers were scheduled to play Monroe, a team they split with in the Wolverine 'A' Conference, Tuesday night at Ypsilanti High School.

The winner will advance to the championship game and play the victor of the Adrian and Plymouth-Canton game.

With Tyrone Hicks, Maurice Robinson and Nate Griffin providing the Tigers with ample scoring power, Belleville shot to an early 17-8 lead and looked like it was on target. However, the never-say-die Eagles soar back and back-to-back baskets by Danny Winston, Paul Adkins and Jeff Smith helped slash the Tigers' lead to 17-14.

Belleville didn't find a cushion to rest on the rest of the evening as the young Romulus stalwarts continued to apply the pressure. Belleville stayed in front 34-27 but, when the third period began, it still was anyone's ball game as Romulus closed to within a basket, 48-46.

Midway in the fourth period Belleville made a move on Romulus that crushed any Eagles' hope of an upset victory and a playoff berth. Griffin, Robinson and Hicks pulled the trigger with direct hits that widened the Tiger margin to 52-46.

Although Romulus came within four (59-55), the Eagles didn't have the explosives to blast their way to the lead.

Griffin played a superb all-around game and finished with 19 points, while Hicks, who did an exceptional job on the boards, finished with 10. Robinson chipped in 11 for the winners.

Winston led the Romulus assault with 18 points and Smith finished with 15.

To qualify for the finals, Belleville erased a dismal Southgate Anderson club, 62-50, in the semifinal round.

Chiefs eliminate Salem

By DENNIS MANSFIELD
ANP Staff Writer

"Too interesting."

That was the assessment by Plymouth-Canton coach David VanWagoner after winning the rubber match versus neighbor and rival Plymouth-Salem at the Class A district semifinals March 12 at Novi High School.

The Chiefs (17-4) held off a late rally by the Rocks (14-9) to win the third meeting between the two teams this season, 68-59.

For the Canton squad, the victory was a chance to get even for a one-point overtime loss to Salem in the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs a week earlier.

Canton had won the regular season game versus Salem in a tight three-point victory.

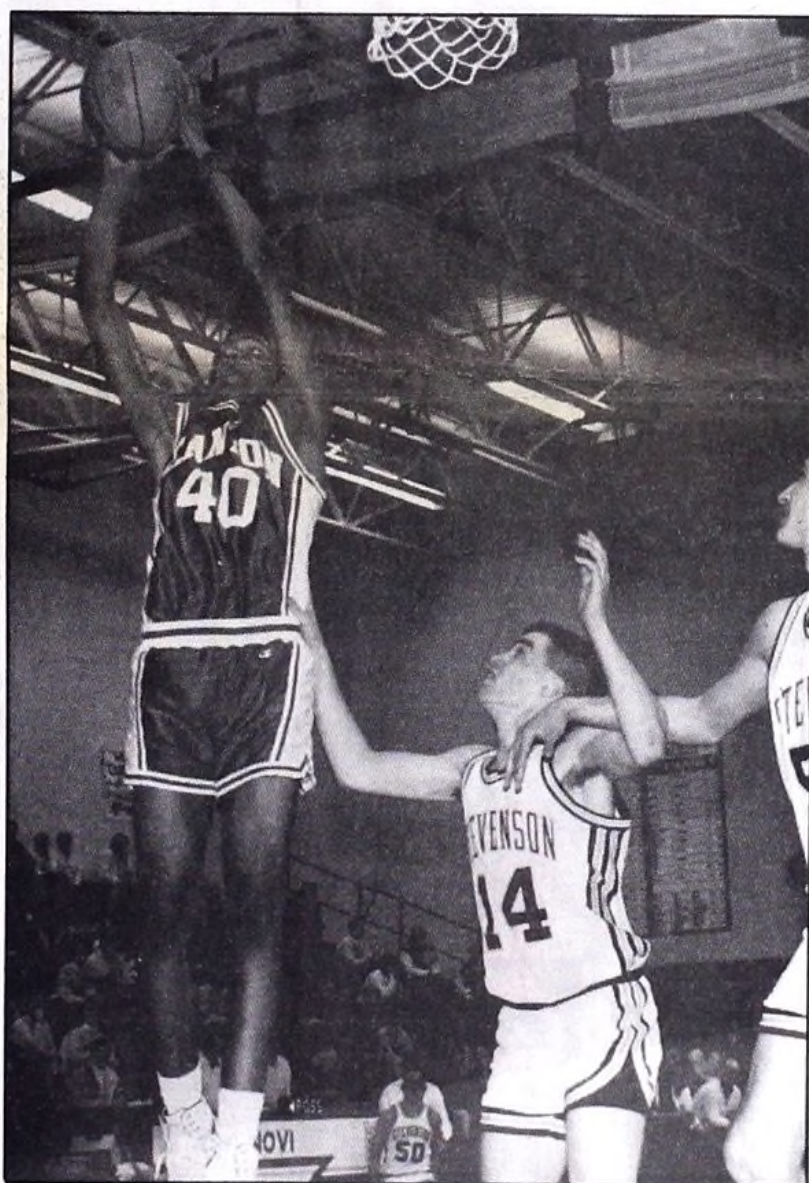

"This is the one we wanted," VanWagoner said. "I give Salem a lot of credit. They never quit."

The Rocks were down 55-40 with 4:52 to play in the final period. Using a full-court trapping defense, Salem forced mistakes and turnovers, cutting the deficit to 57-53 with less than 3:00 to play.

"Their press was very effective, but our kids, to their credit, figured it out and took care of business," said VanWagoner. "We're just really proud of our kids."

Canton captures 'A' crown

By DENNIS MANSFIELD
ANP Staff Writer

Plymouth-Canton coach David VanWagoner had the perfect recipe for success during March Madness. All he had to do was stir up the ingredients - his players - for a 60-47 win against the Livonia Stevenson Spartans for the Class A district championship.

"Rebounding and defense wins championships," said VanWagoner in telling of his hoops formula. The formula was successful enough for the Chiefs to win their second consecutive Class A title with the victory

Saturday at Novi High School.

The Chiefs outrebounded the Spartans 51-26 for the game. But the numbers at half-time were not as impressive. Canton led by only three, 18-15, at the end of the first quarter and 32-30 at the half.

"We pretty much took over in the second half," VanWagoner said. "We started playing good defense. Most importantly we rebounded the ball at both ends. That's been the key to our season."

Chairman of the "boards" was senior center Tony Coshatt, who grabbed 12 rebounds to go along with his 11 points and 10 blocked shots. Seniors Derrick McDonald and Hal Heard each scored 16 points to lead the Chiefs.

While the ingredients were there in the first half, but not the results, VanWagoner rallied his troops at intermission to make sure a championship would be Greek to the Spartans, who were led by Matt Grodzicki's 19 points. He simply brought his recipe to a boil.

"Yeah, we yelled at them at half time," VanWagoner said jokingly. "That pretty much jumped started them."

Inkster falls to wayside as Falcons rule again

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Inkster had defending champ Divine Child on the ropes, but coach Spencer Grant's cagers couldn't come up with the knockout punch.

Up at times by 10 points, the Vikings failed to hang on to their lead and lost to D.C., 55-50, in the semifinal round of the Class B District Tournament staged at Robichaud.

Divine Child, ranked among the best Class B teams in the state all year long, went on to defeat Crestwood in the finals to retain the district title and qualify for the regional playoffs. The Falcons (15-6) advanced to the Adrian College regional tournament where they were scheduled to play Tecumseh (17-5) last night.

The winner of the Divine Child-Tecumseh game will meet the winner of the Allen Park and Milan game at 7 p.m. Friday to determine the regional championship.

Grant, who completed his first year as head coach with a 9-12 won-lost record, said he was disappointed that his team lost, but optimistic about his team's future.

"Whenever you start freshmen you're building for the future," Grant added. "And this team definitely has a future. It's been a building and experience-gathering year for us."

"Next year, we will make our presence felt,"

he warned.

Inkster made its presence known against the defending champs as the Vikings leaped to a 15-10 first-period lead behind freshman sensation Al White's six points.

White, joined by Jimmy Outlaw, continued to put the pressure on the Falcon defense. Inkster managed to maintain the lead until the intermission 31-24. However, D.C. came back in the second half thanks to the outstanding effort of Rob Valentino, who was held by Carlos Johnson to six points for the first half. With Valentino's sharpshooting, the Falcons cut the Viking lead to one point, 38-37. They sealed the victory with a 18-10 scoring advantage in the final eight minutes of the Inkster season.

White had 19 points, 17 rebounds and four blocked shots in his final game as a freshman. Valentino, however, topped the Viking ace's effort, scoring 24 for the evening - nine each in the final two periods.

"Those turnovers in the second half really killed us," Grant noted. "There was a lot of pressure on our kids. They learned a very valuable lesson from this game - they can play with the best of them."

Scully places 3rd in state

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Mike Scully culminated a superb wrestling career at Romulus High School Saturday at Battle Creek Kellogg Stadium where he finished third in Michigan in the tough 125-pound class.

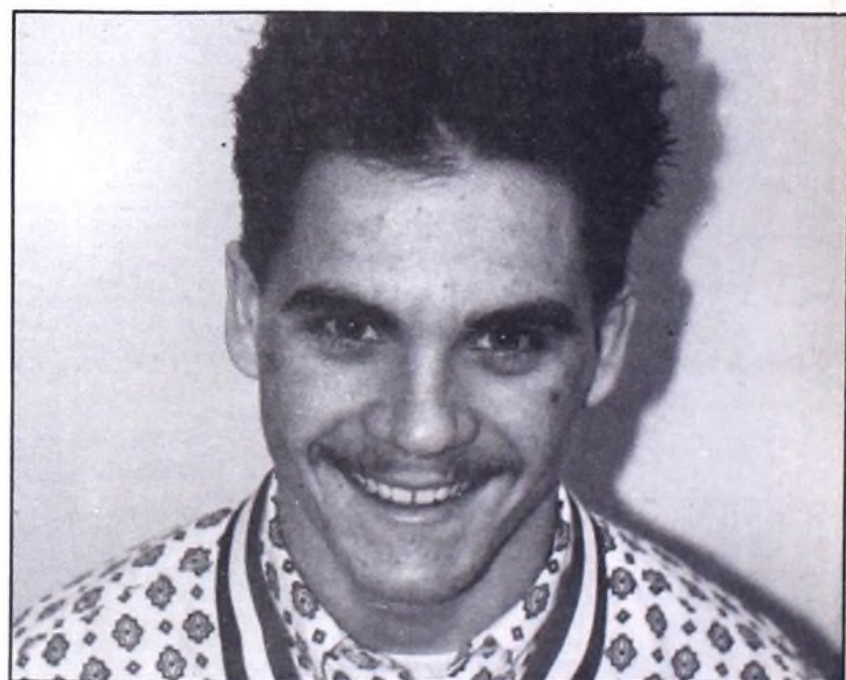

The 17-year-old senior, coached by Norm Butler, finished the 1991-92 campaign with a sterling 51-6 won-lost record.

"He's one of the finest student athletes that I have ever had the pleasure of coaching," said Butler after the meet. "He's an asset to the team, school, and community."

Scully launched his bid for a state medal and all-state recognition with a 5-0 victory over Rochester Adams' Matt Olson. Then, in the quarterfinals, the young Eagle grappler lost a controversial overtime decision to East Lansing's Andy Behem, 3-1.

"It was a close match and Mike unfortunately lost on a questionable call," Butler noted.

Scully came back to the mats and took his wrath out on Dan Winohradsky, of Holly, who he pinned in 5:58. He then went on to defeat Dustin Trombly of New Baltimore Anchor Bay in 5:52 and Bob Holczman of Battle Creek Lakeview in 2:25.

Mike Scully

The Romulus wrestler faced Hazel Park standout, Gary Harrison, in the consolation round and came out of that bout with a 6-2 victory and the state bronze medal.

"You know the state champ in that weight class had a 42-1 record and that one loss was put there by Mike at the Romulus Royal Invitational competition," Butler said.

In the meantime, Inkster High boasts its first All-State wrestler in 25 years as heavyweight Fred Davis finished eighth at the Class B state championships. The top eight finishers receive medals and are awarded All-State consideration.

Davis, a 260-pound senior who stepped on to the mats the first time this year, won three of his five matches at state.

The Viking grappler defeated Andy Stalen of Dowagiac Union, 11-9, and edged Scott Nykamp of Hamilton, 9-7. However, he dropped a 14-7 decision to Marcus Moore of Lake Odessa, and was pinned by Casey Colby of Corunna. He also lost to Jason Dodd of Riverview, 12-8.

"It is very rare, in fact, I don't know of any first-year wrestler who didn't have the benefit of wrestling in the junior high, to come in and win a state medal or earn All-State honors," said Inkster coach Sam Ellis. "Needless to say we are all proud of him."

NOTICE OF LITIGATION TO LEONARD ROBERTS, MABLE ROBERTS, VERONICA TAFELSKI AND EUGENE GORETSKI AND ALL PARTIES CLAIMING INTEREST IN THE REAL PROPERTY AT 363 NAD 369 HUDSON, WYANDOTTE, MICHIGAN:

Exaction Incorporated has filed a civil lawsuit against you in the Wayne County Circuit Court, Case No. 91-127194-CH, Judge Roland Alzakr presiding. Exaction acquired fee title to the real property located at 363 and 369 Hudson in Wyandotte, Michigan by paying the delinquent 1986 property taxes at the Wayne County tax sale, and perfecting its resulting Tax Deed in full compliance with the Michigan General Property Tax Act. The real property at issue has the following legal description: "Lot 88 of Hudson's Subdivision, as recorded in liber 22, page 23 of Plats, Wayne County Records", commonly known as the vacant residential lot at 363 Hudson, and "Lot 87 of Hudson's Subdivision, as recorded in liber 22, page 23 of Plats, Wayne County Records", commonly known as the single residential house at 369 Hudson. The quiet title lawsuit seeks to confirm Exaction's unencumbered fee simple absolute title to the real property. The Wayne County Circuit Court is located at the City County Building, 2 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. You are named as a defendant in the lawsuit. The purpose of this action is to terminate your rights (if any) to this property. You must file an answer, a Default of Judgment will be entered against you for the relief demanded in the Complaint. /s/ Michael H. Wampler, Esq. P36181, attorney for Exaction Incorporated, 18927 Farmington Road, Livonia, MI 48152, (313) 477-0700.

Registration continues for summer baseball leagues

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Despite the sudden return of winter to the area, baseball organizations are looking forward to spring and baseball registration.

The Belleville Area Little League this week will continue registration for prospective softball and baseball players from noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday and from 1 to 4 p.m. on Sunday at the Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road.

There is a $30 registration fee for players in the minor, major and senior leagues. Each additional child from the same family will receive a 10-percent discount. Participants must have birth certificates with them at the time of registration.

Players who attend South Middle School will be assigned to the American League; those attending North Middle School will play in the National League.

T-Ball participants, who must be 6 years old before Aug. 1, also may register on Saturday and Sunday.

The Westland Youth Athletic Association is signing up players for summer leagues. Players may register from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Saturdays and from 8 to 10 p.m. on Wednesdays at the WYAA compound, 6050 Farmington Road, two blocks north of Ford Road.

There is a $20 fee to play in the T-Ball League (5-6, 7-8 year olds). Those who plan to compete in the Mustang (9-10), Bronco (11-12) or Pony (13-14) Leagues will have to pay $30 to sign up. Registration for the Filly, Shetland, and Pinto softball leagues is $30.

A birth certificate is required at the time of registration.

Also, the Wayne Baseball Association is seeking boys and girls for baseball leagues.

Leagues available for the 1992 campaign include: Shetland (5-6); Pinto (7-8); Mustang (8, 9, 10); Bronco (11-12); Pony (13-14); Colt (15-16) and Palomino (17-18).

Players may sign up at the Wayne Recreation Center, on Howe Road, or call 722-6400 for further information.

The WBA also has positions open for umpiring games this summer. The prospective candidate must be 16 years old or older. The association needs field supervisors and volunteer coaches.

moments of the game, 3-0, with Chiefs unable to convert a basket in the first two minutes. But the lead was short lived as Canton took control by the end of the first quarter, 14-9, and continued to distance themselves from the rival school at the end of the half, 29-20.

The Canton lead was built on the shoulders of the Chiefs captain, senior center Tony Coshatt, who scored 16 points and grabbed six rebounds before fouling out in the fourth quarter. Coshatt and senior forward Hal Heard (17 points and 10 rebounds) were the big offensive guns for Canton in building their first-half lead by going inside for easy baskets.

Salem had some offensive weapons too. Senior center Mike Abraham (23 points, 12 rebounds) and senior guard Eric Stemmer (11 points) tried to go out with a bang by bumping Canton from the playoffs again, but there would not be any last minute heroics for the Rocks.

Canton senior guard Derrick McDonald (a team-high 19 points) hit six of seven free-throw attempts in the final 1:17 to end Salem's hopes of knocking the Chiefs out the post-season tournament. With the win, Canton claimed by the bragging rights between the two schools for 1992.

"There's no revenge," Van-Wagoner said. "There's just a healthy rivalry. We're just the better team this year."

Belleville wrestler seeks Big 10 title

Belleville resident Jay Helm will make his first trip to the Big 10 Conference wrestling championships as a member of the Michigan State University team.

Helm, a sophomore who prepped at Redford, (Catholic Central), will represent the Spartans at 142 pounds, where he compiled a 14-17-2 (1- 5-1 Big 10) record this season. He also had three victories via pins.

During his freshman year, Helm posted a 6-7 overall record in the 142- pound division and opened the season at the Eastern Michigan University Invitational with an impressive 5-2 mark.

At Catholic Central, Jay was named the best in the nation as a 140- pounder by the Scholastic Wrestling News. He was a state champ two successive years and four-time all-conference selection.

At Catholic Central, Jay was coached by Michael Rodriguez, whose teams have been among the best in Michigan over the past decade.

Miller sets high jump record

Angie Miller, former Plymouth Canton track star, has added a collegiate record to her many accomplishments.

Miller, a senior at Western Michigan University, cleared 5-feet, 6- inches in the high jump to capture the gold medal at the Mid-American Women's Indoor Track and Field Invitational staged at Eastern Michigan last week.

Miller's winning leap also helped Western Michigan finish fourth overall in the team standings. Eastern won the title with 160 points.
